ON COURSE SAFETY GUIDELINES

With the excitement of racing comes danger for anyone who has access to the racecourse. BE AWARE OF YOUR SURROUNDINGS AT ALL TIMES. Below are additional guidelines to follow to help keep you from disrupting the race.

- CORR race officials, course workers and safety personnel have precedence over all media members while working.

- Do not ask them to move out of your shot or impede them in any way. Always follow their instructions without debate.
- They are in radio communication with the race director and have information you may not be aware of.
- Never cross the course unless you have clear vision for several hundred feet in all directions.
- Vehicles are traveling at high speed. Not all vehicles will be loud enough to give you fair warning of their approach. They can come upon you with little notice.
- They may be in groups or in close pursuit of the vehicle in front. Vehicles can pull out to pass at any time. Bushes or contours in the terrain are not protection from race vehicles. NEVER TURN YOUR BACK ON THE RACECOURSE.
- Never stand or sit where you cannot see approaching traffic. If the course is obscured by dust quickly move back until it settles, and you have clear vision. If you can't see the vehicles, they can't see you.
- It is imperative that you always STAY ALERT.
- Stay away from the outside of corners. That is where a vehicle can possibly leave the course. Race vehicles throw a lot of dirt and rocks behind them and in the corners. Those rocks and dirt can hit you with great force, enough to cause possible injuries.
- Use the buddy system with your fellow photographers and videographers. You can miss a lot of what is happening around you while looking through a viewfinder. Don't be afraid to ask questions if you are unsure of anything.
- Work with each other and share information about safe practices or potential hazards. If you see a potential hazard don't hesitate to inform a course worker or fellow media member.
- Do not leave unused tripods, gear bags or other items lying around where someone might trip on them.
- Take the time to survey your surroundings before shooting to make sure there are no loose rocks or debris that might cause a hazard, your first step is the most important one.
- Never place your gear behind someone who is shooting.
- Never shoot where you don't have clear vision around you.
- Avoid fences or any other obstacle that can possibly trap you or impede your movement.
- Off-road racing, the racecourse and its surrounding area can present dangers. Stay within your limits, stay safe, follow the rules, and STAY AWARE AT ALL TIMES.

You must abide by CORR rules and regulations, including any printed materials or announcements made on site.

Media credentials may be revoked at ANY time for reasons including but not limited to:

- Not complying with any media regulations
- Unprofessional behavior
- Unsafe behavior
- Ignoring requests of CORR officials and course safety workers
